Dear Parents and Community Members,

As I walked around the school, it was really apparent the effort the teachers put into individualised programs for the students. Each student was given opportunity to enhance their abilities through structured learning experiences. Working in a multi-age classroom has its challenges however the teachers at Cascade are skilled in managing the diversity, demonstrating a proficient standard.

Mrs King was working on Mathematics in the senior class when I walked into the room. There was a group of students working independently on addition sums and another group comparing and ordering decimals. The other students were working with Mrs King on number lines both whole numbers and fractions. In the junior class the iPad’s were being used by the Pre-primary students to sort items according to size, environments and gender. Other students were working with Miss Collins on addition sentences on the board. The Kindy students were on an adventure to describe what they see on the school grounds. I did not see two classes; I saw all the students engaged in individualised learning journeys prepared by skilled teachers which I believe we are extremely lucky to have.

The bike track project is up and running now with plans being drawn up ready for the first stage. The ground works and retainer wall will be done in the first stage followed by the bike path and edging. This is going to be a fantastic area for the junior students to develop their gross motor skills and learn road and traffic safety. The retainer wall can be used for seating which will overlook a stage area that can be used for assemblies, drama, music and special events.

We have had a few sightings of snakes around the school grounds which unfortunately comes with the environment we live in. At the school we have snake deterrents placed around the gardens and will be upgrading these when necessary. The lawns are kept low and gardens manicured to avoid too many hiding spots. The students have been told to stay out of garden beds and if they see a snake to move into the undercover area and notify the teacher on duty. It may be a good idea for parents to have the conversation with their children on what to do if they see a snake as well. Reinforcing it is a good idea, especially for the younger children.

Our first two days with Munglinup were fantastic with both Science and History lessons running smoothly. The students were working with others and sharing thoughts and ideas, which was great to see. Mr Norris had me hooked in the senior Science class and the students were really engaged in the Science language and experiment.

I hope you have a great week.

Kind Regards

On Tuesdays in our Creative Thinking sessions the students have been practising brainstorming. They are getting very good at it and more creative all the time!

One activity had the students coming up with 10 new ice cream flavours each. Here is an example of their delicious ideas………

Bug Breath by Hannah

Pebble Soup by Lachie

Earwig by Zac

Feathers and Eyeballs by Charlie

Pickled Yabbies by Tameeka

Hairball Surprise by Georgia and

Macaroon by Tara.

Which one would you like to try?
In Art the students have completed very effective paintings in the style of Piet Mondrian!

This style is the prototype for the front wall project which has already begun. I’d like to thank Tim and Tanya for painting the wall white and Mary Rollond who has expertly helped supervise the students with the painting.

Another thankyou goes to Tara Vermeersch for sending in lots of glass jars for the students to use with their painting. This is very much appreciated.

And if you have any spare ice cream lids please send them as they will be super handy as palettes!

Mrs King
The students, with help from Mary Rollond, have been busy this week painting the wall at the entrance of the school. They have done a fabulous job.

The Sportsman’s Suite: Mark Howlett Foundation Prints 1991 - 2011 is a showcase of prints produced by 13 established Western Australian artists. Founded in 1991 the Mark Howlett Foundation (MHF) has supported 15 art projects through commissioning mid career artists. Recipients of the MHF commissions are represented in this exhibition with works on paper from the original projects and also new works created to celebrate the 20 year anniversary of the MHF.

This exhibition was first presented at the Fremantle Arts Centre in January 2012.

The Mark Howlett Foundation group exhibition provides a terrific survey of works by some of WA’s most respected and renowned artists. It is an absolute privilege to peruse so many works - collated in one time and place - and be able to appreciate individual artist’s research journeys by drawing visual, material, stylistic and conceptual comparisons between the period of their Foundation funding and very recent works.

The range of works, media and methodologies employed, and overall quality of the artworks is also an excellent educational resource for anyone, whether a casual observer or an established artist. This is an exhibition I for one would enjoy experiencing again many times over.

- Dr Nien Schwarz, Edith Cowan University, 2012

The touring exhibition reflects a compelling survey of Western Australian Art and showcases a diversity of print techniques and methods which will be of great interest to the public. However it is also the small wins and self supporting approach to creating art projects that the Board and Artists want to share with regional communities.
